

Fig. 1. A fishpond and pond repairing. Note the plantation of mangrove seeds at the water edge. Madura. June, 1981.

Fig. 2. Dispatch of milkfish harvested from fishponds. Madura. June, 1981.

Fig. 3. Bamboo trap of two meters square and thirty centimeters thick, near Singaraja, Bali, June, 1981.

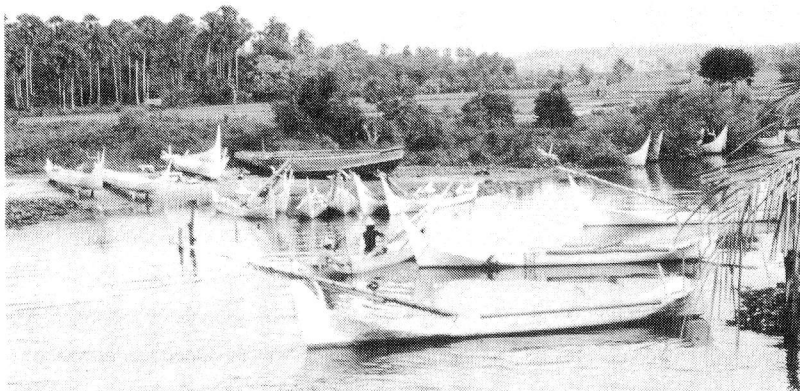

Fig. 4. Fishing port in Paciran, East Java. July 3, 1981.

Fig. 5. Fish fences GALANGAN set for milkfish fry, along the northern coast of Bali, June, 1981.

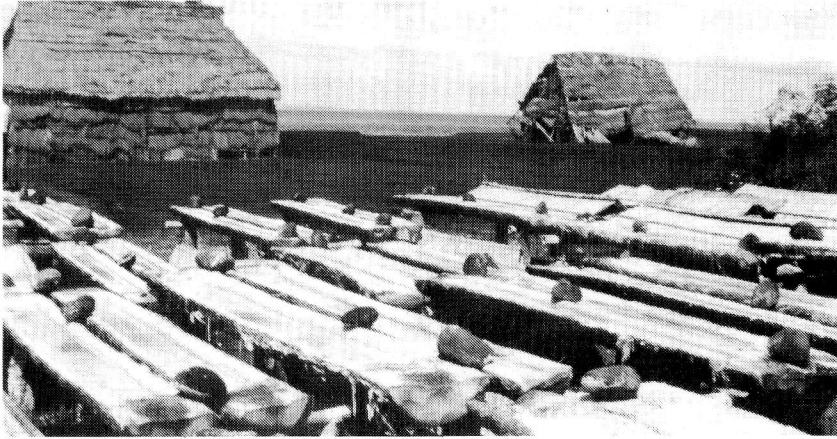

Fig. 6. A salt making method in Bali Island. Sea water filled in wooden containers is evaporated under the sunlight. June, 1981.

Fig. 7. Typical salt fields in Madura Island. Many people are employed in this industry during the dry season. June, 1981.

Fig. 8. A sanitation is in progress at a public waterworks in the north coast of Bali Island. July, 1981.

Fig. 9. A canoe of five meters length and half a meter width, constructed by villagers at Bena, Bali. June, 1981.

Fig. 10. Shrimp paste (ACANG) making. Batumar, Madura. June 27, 1981.

Fig. 11. Small pond for irrigation. Paragtritis, Jogjakarta. June 6, 1981.

Fig. 12. Traditional irrigation canal at upland field has been maintained by communities working, near Patjitan, East Java. June, 1981.

Fig. 13. A Farmer is sprinkling for his truck garden by hand-bucket, continued from Fig. 11, at Paragtritis, Jogjakarta. June 6, 1981.

Fig. 14. Peanut growing on a heaped up earth in a paddy field, Bangkalan. July 7, 1981.

Fig. 15. Rice field fish culture (SAWAH TAMBAK) and irrigation canal. 10 km west from Gresik, East Java. July 15, 1981.

Fig. 16. Commercial growing of cucumber on upland fields at slightly above sea level, Surabaya. July 9, 1981.

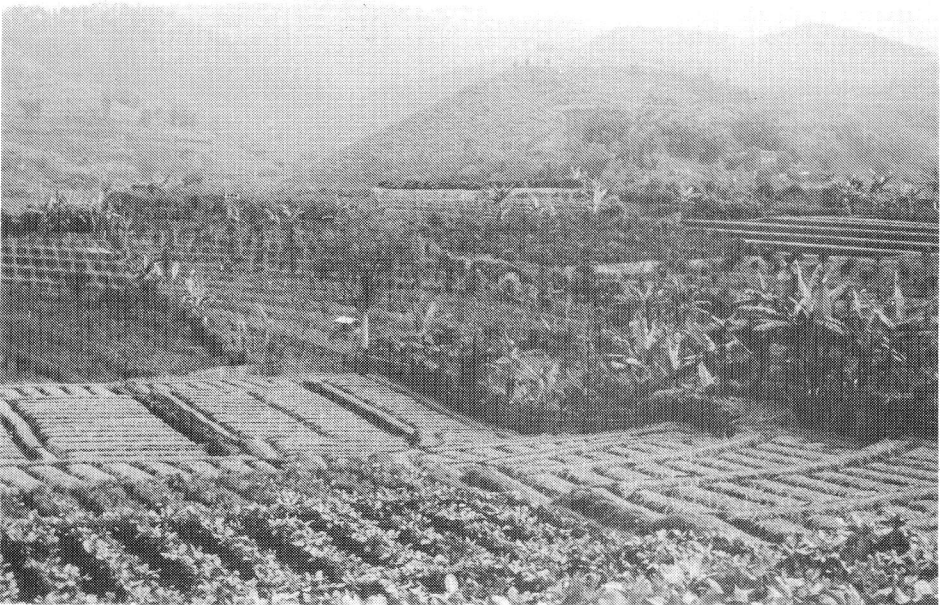

Fig. 17. Commercial growing of various vegetables at elevations about 1,000m, Batu. July 11, 1981.

Fig. 18. Open market in Jakarta.

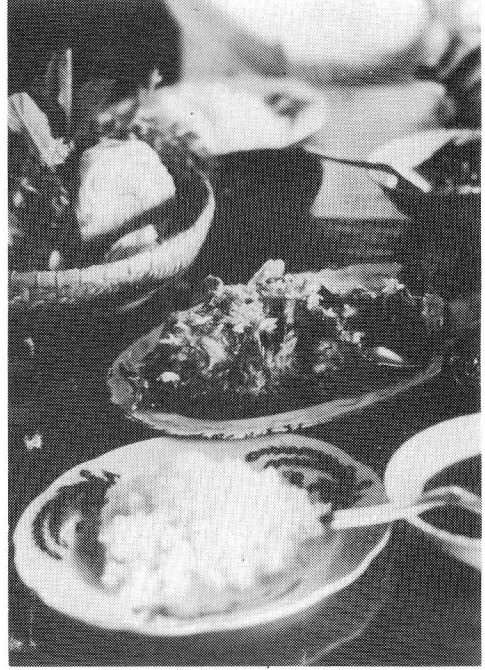

Fig. 19. Open market in Jakarta. July 22, 1981.

Fig. 20. Open market in Kusamba, Bali. June 15, 1981.