Firstly, I would like to thank our gracious sponsor, Kagoshima University Research Center for the South Pacific. The symposium was very productive and successful largely because of its careful preparation and planning. I also express our appreciation to the kind support of Kagoshima University Dental School furnishing us a beautiful location for the symposium. Along with the many participants who worked for this meeting, I owe special thanks to the members of Research Committee of the Center who has been working for the past two years to strengthen the activities for this symposium. I would also like to extend my hearty thanks to all groups that contributed to make the meeting successful: Rescue Party of Police Force, Emergency Brigade of Fire Service, Fishing Industrial Divers Groups and MBC-broadcasting station for advertisement.

Exceptional contributions were made by Dr. Harley I. Manner, Visiting Professor of Research Center for the South Pacific who carried out the difficult technical editorial and communications tasks for the publication of this book of proceedings.

I would like to express my deep gratitude to the members of Department of Oral Pathology including many students of Kagoshima University Dental School who helped me in holding the symposium and in fulfilling the publication of this book.
