This work was performed in September of 1988 and in January of 1989 in the Islands of Palau and we thank Messrs. David K. Idip (Previous Director of the Bureau of Resources and Development), Toshiro Paulis (Chief of Marine Resources Division of the same bureau), Dr. Gerald Heslinga (Manager of Micronesian Mariculture Demonstration Center) and other staff of the Micronesian Mariculture Demonstration Center. We appreciate their kind support and the facilities provided in transporting live Nautilus to Kagoshima, Japan.

Thanks are also due to Mr. Michihiro Tabata and other staff at Marine Park, Kagoshima, Japan for providing facilities for the culturing of Nautilus.

Thanks are also extended to other members of our project. This work would not have been possible without the technical advice and support given by Dr. Shozo Hayasaka, the leader of the research team.

Finance for this project was provided by the Grant-in-Aid from the Ministry of Education, Science and Culture of the Japanese Government.
